Car and Driver, August 2006

Included in "The Homemades: Yes you can build a sports car for just a few grand"

"There's a good deal of interest these days in backyard car-building, thanks to Ron Champion. In 1996, he wrote a book, Build Your Own Sports Car for as Little as £250. In Yankee greenbacks, that's about $465. The book shows how to build an inexpensive sports car practically from scratch, but more important, it can get a gearhead thinking, 'Hey, I can do that!'"

High Quality

By Jared H.

Great detail... Definitely an awesome project. The book is very high quality and looks great on a coffee table.

I Built One!

By Sparkyweld

Great book, made the process straightforward and understandable. If you simply follow the steps in the book you will end up with a really good little sports car. If you also incorporate some information from Carroll Smith and Allen Staninforth's books you will have a car that will beat the pants off a Caterham.

Great read, empowering... even if you never build the car.

We all can be car builders!!!

By Fernan Castillo

I usually read this kind of books from cover to cover, and I didn't think it was going to be that exiting!

I just can't wait to get started! I know almost nothing about mechanics, but this book shows everything so easy that I think I can do it by my self...

The only "contra" is that maybe it will not come out for 250 (of any currency in the world) because it starts with a donor car in good working condition bought for 75 pounds... I'd be glad to find something like that for at least 1000 USD ... but that's not the case in my country... Also, you need some equipment, and that won't cost just 5 bucks...
