About the Author

Sri Daya Mata (1914 - 2010) was the foremost disciple of Paramahansa Yogananda. A true "Mother of Compassion," as her name signified, she inspired those of all faiths and from all walks of life with the wisdom and great love of God conveyed through her talks, writings, and recordings. Referring to her first volume of spiritual counsel, Only Love, the former Ambassador of India to the United States, N. A. Palkhivala, wrote: "Sri Daya Mata personifies love and compassion and the other timeless values of Indian culture...Her speeches are not dry academic dissertations on abstract theological principles, but intensely personal hymns testifying to her ecstastic vision of the Creator."

Born Faye Wright on January 31, 1914 in Salt Lake City, Utah, Daya Mata met Paramahansa Yogananda at the age of seventeen when she attended a lecture series he was giving in her hometown. Upon hearing him speak, she inwardly thought: "This man loves God as I have always longed to love Him. He knows God. Him I shall follow." Not long afterward, she entered his ashram in Los Angeles as a nun of the Self-Realization Order. During more than two decades of day-to-day association with Yogananda, Daya Mata served as his confidential secretary; and over the years he entrusted her with increasing spiritual and administrative responsibilities. From the beginning it was evident that he had singled her out for a special role. He later told her that he had given to her the same intense spiritual discipline that his guru, Swami Sri Yukteswar, had given to him - a significant remark, since she was to inherit the spiritual and organizational mantle that Sri Yukteswar had bestowed on him.

As Paramahansa Yogananda's spiritual successor, Sri Daya Mata guided his society for more than half a century, faithfully carrying out his wishes and ideals for the dissemination of his teachings worldwide and for the establishment of Self-Realization Fellowship temples, centers, and retreats. In 1955, succeeding the late, saintly Rajarsi Janakananda, Sri Daya Mata became president of Self-Realization Fellowship/Yogoda Satsanga Society - the first woman to head a worldwide spiritual organization, a role she fulfilled until her passing in 2010. She made several global speaking tours, including extended visits to India. Under her leadership, the pioneering spiritual work of Paramahansa Yogananda flourished, both in his native land and around the world. Two other books by Daya Mata have been published: Only Love: Living the Spiritual Life in a Changing World, and Enter The Quiet Heart: Creating a Loving Relationship with God. Many of her talks are also available on audio CD, and DVD.

THE Book to banish fear, deepen love, and find "IT"

By Pataphor

What a pity it is that this book is not better known.

As far as I'm concerned, when it comes to spirituality, this is THE book.

Whether or not you choose to take the word "god" literally, Sri Daya Mata knew it was LOVE of something greater than oneself that was the fast, royal highway to happiness, security, and peace.

To me, a good foundation for spirituality begins with Eckhart Tolle's The Power of Now.

When -- or if -- you want go deeper, look no further than this INCREDIBLE book, with its INTENSE wisdom, inclusive treatment (Hindu? Christian? Anything else? All are welcome!), and strong, deep, abiding, intense love.

I have read SO many books on spirituality.

None goes deeper, more quickly, with practical applications in daily life, than this one.

This book will change your life.

What I learned!

By Kay Lewis

This is one of the books that I truly treasure. Daya Mata gives specific and easy to understand answers to very difficult situations. I've read it maybe 5 times and pieces of it over and over. It is tabbed from here to eternity!

One day I was so frustrated that I was embroiled in a heated battle with someone I had to see every week at our meeting. He knew just how to push my buttons. This type of situation was not new. I believed in fighting for what I thought was right. Try as I could, I couldn't resist a return barb. Disgusted with myself, I demanded of the Universe/aka/God that I be shown a way to overcome this and I needed it right NOW. From a big pile of books I picked up a book, Only Love. I flipped it open ... page 59...and laughingly groaned. "What You Can Learn from Others" was the chapter title. I applied it to my life and have not attracted the same situation or similar situation since I first read it over 2 years ago. I now buy it for others.

A Divine Inspiration

By A Customer

This is a book that will open heart, mind and spirit and change forever the life of the reader. A true disciple of P. Yogananda, in these pages, Sri Daya Mata, shows clearly what are the results of being trained by such an exalted being. Undoubtedly a Mother of compassion, as Her name implies, Daya Mata gives the reader a glimpse of the divine nature of man and the entire cosmos, with humility and unparalleled realization. One has the certainty that the Author is living what is preaching, which makes this book a rare gem of deep spiritual insights. A "must" for everyone that is truly searching.
